

BROUGHAM HALL ANNUAL REPORT : DECEMBER 2010

SILVER JUBILEE The fate of Brougham Hall was sealed on 25th November 1985. On that day, the slow road to recovery commenced. If it weren't for Alistair Aynscough's splendid, fortnightly, illustrated "Hall News", it would be almost impossible to visualise the state of devastation that existed then. For those that weren't there, at the time, Brougham Hall, and what is now known as Brougham Hall Gardens, looked like a village on the Somme, or Ypres battle fields, at the cessation of hostilities, in November 1918. Not a building stood intact; there were 4,000 tons of rubbish and 200 dead trees. With wells and cellars all over the place, Brougham was a deadly playground for the youth of Penrith. The Local Authority had granted full planning consent and listed building consent for the demolition of the Hall to make way for 26 unlandscaped, speculative "council houses", but had done absolutely nothing to ensure site safety. Such was the municipal mindset in those enlightened times.

ANNIVERSARIES On 17th July, Hazel Walker celebrated 21 years of Country Furnishings. As such, she beats all Rona Newsome's records and is the first member of our community to come of age!! Jon Boston celebrated a decade with us, on 7th July and Cumbria Scouts moved to larger premises, in central Penrith, on the exact tenth anniversary of their arrival at Brougham.

GENERAL Fittingly, our Jubilee year has been the most adventurous yet. We now have a brand new website, thanks to Juno Leigh and Associates. Juno also had a hand in ensuring that the Tate Movie Project came to Brougham. Channel 4 made a half hour programme at Brougham entitled "The Lakes on a Plate". The National Association of Decorative and Fine Arts Society (NADFAS) have made wonderful progress on cleaning our C17th Flemish screen. We obtained LEADER (European) funding to enable us to survey and draw the Lord Chancellor's Den to create one of the few modern site specific archives in the country. Full Planning Consent was granted on 4th November. On the very same day, we concluded a twinning arrangement with the Candili Craft Centre, on the Greek island of Euboea. The robbed out south-west corner of the Carriage House has been repaired and stabilised, thanks to the JF Eilbeck Chemist Charitable Trust and to Ian Lowes. Brougham was properly written up in the latest version of Sir Nikolas Pevsner's guide to Cumberland and Westmorland, compensating for its previous omission. Finally, the Trust, while turning in its best performance for eight years, passed the £1m milestone in cash receipts – while this was hardly sufficient to pay a hall porter at Lehman Brothers, it meant a great deal to us.

CONGRATULATIONS Go to the Hon. Charles Brougham, who married Nicola Moore, in the Palace of Westminster, on 6th March, proceeding thereafter to their reception, at the Institute of Directors, in a Brougham Carriage. Charles and Nikki last visited Brougham Hall on 1st May 2009.

RESTORATION While we fell well short of our declared objectives for 2010, Patrick McMannus and Piers Merry made a splendid job of repairing and stabilising the south-west corner of the Carriage House. We also obtained the necessary funding to procure full consent for the restoration of the Lord Chancellor's Den, as a site specific archive. Malcolm Cundy restored the double gates onto the south lawn. Dale Talentire, and his men, levelled the lawn with top soil, to facilitate future functions.

PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR 2011 Our aim of repairing and making safe the Armour Hall chimney breast and the south wall of the Pele Tower, in 2010, were not realised and will have to be carried over until next year.

Our most pressing obligation, however, is to capitalise on success, satisfy the conditions attaching to the LPA Consents, in respect of the Lord Chancellor's Den, - and, in particular, the provision of ten more compensatory car park spaces to the east of the footprint of the Mansion.

THIS YEAR'S CALENDAR Night – 31st December – 1st January. So ended the coldest December for 13 years. A clear night also revealed a "blue moon", the very rare 13th full moon in a calendar year.

COMINGS AND GOINGS During the year, we lost Adam Bowns, a very gifted metal sculptor; the Cumbria Scout Development Office and Stuart Laverick, a software specialist, in their place, we are pleased to welcome back Julia Oliphant, an employment consultant; and to welcome Paul Lewis, a surveyor and Lindsay Wild and her Brougham Holistic Team.

OBITUARY Peter Brougham Wyly, the Brougham family genealogist, died on 6th February, aged 88. Peter devoted his life to researching the Brougham family history and collaborated, very closely, with Mark Thomas in the publication of "A History of Brougham Hall and Highhead Castle" (Philimore. 1992), for which Peter provided the genealogical tables. He also produced "The Brougham Family: An Extension" (1986) and "A Gathering of Broughams" (unpublished). Broughams would come to Brougham Hall, from all over the world, enquiring about their ancestry and Peter, with a phenomenal memory and a forensic mind, would patiently explain where the enquirer fitted into the overall jigsaw puzzle. For a quarter of a century, Peter was a frequent visitor, an even more frequent communicant and a generous benefactor. We will not see his kind again. He was unique.

Sydney Walker died, on 5th October, aged 71. The Trust was represented at his funeral, at St Andrew's Parish Church, Penrith, at 11am on Monday 11th October, very well conducted by the Reverend Clive Pattinson. There was a large turn out, testament to the esteem and affection in which this hard-working and gentle man was held by all. Syd rebuilt more of Brougham Hall than anyone else, working there between 1986 and 2000. He even came to work on his 60th birthday! Served by a good labourer, Syd could build 1m² an hour. He had had his trowel so long that his fingers had carved deep grooves into the wooden handle. Syd said that he would retire when the trowel fell to pieces. The trowel won! There are unmarked monuments to Syd from Mungrisedale to Aira Force. The Trust will make sure that he has an appropriate, marked one, at Brougham.
